Treasurer's Report AGM November 2020

Well this has been the most unusual year with activities curtailed by the pandemic and our last indoor meeting being held on the 7th March. It seems so long ago since we heard Duncan Coombs speak.

We held a self-financing garden visit in September, which a number of members enjoyed, but your treasurer has not been overburdened with work. Our accounts have been audited by one of our members, Roy Milnes, for which many thanks, not only for his work but also for waiving any fee for which the Club is very grateful.

We end the year with a healthy balance, and this has enabled your committee to review any subscription for the forthcoming year and to propose that no subscriptions are due until the re-commencement of indoor meetings. The subscription will then be charged pro rata for whatever number of indoor meetings remain in the current financial year. Outdoor garden visits are self-financing.

I think that the accounts are fairly self-explanatory. If there are any questions that members would like to ask, I will do my best to answer them. Please send any queries by email to our Chairman, Christine Flint, when you receive notification and documentation for this emailed AGM and I will attempt to advise etc in advance of the AGM date of 7th November 2020 so that you are in a position to accept these accounts which I recommend to the membership. I further request that we appoint Roy Milnes as our auditor for 2020/21.
